Washoe County Sheriff's Office and Associated General Contractors will be celebrating 10 years of working together during crisis. The Washoe County Sheriff's Contractor's Auxiliary was formed in 1997 after the New Year's Flood. At the time, contractor's willing to assist with equipment and manpower were not allowed into restricted areas.

Now, resources offered by the construction industry are being deployed during emergencies or natural disasters by the Sheriff's Office Contractor's Auxiliary which is 175 members strong. "This is a good example of utilizing the equipment, skill and expertise of contractors while saving money for the local governments" said Sheriff Michael Haley. "It's a win for everyone involved, especially for the community."

RAVEN will be on display as will numerous types of heavy equipment which could be used in times of a disaster or major emergency. Please come join the celebration!
